Hominio Society Gives Welcome to Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Cooke.

AT THE NEW LOWERY HOME

A Brilliant Company in a Beautiful Mansion-Departure in Building. Court and Fountain.

The most brilliant and unusual social function Honolula has known for a long time was the reception to Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Cooks at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred. J. Lowrey on Tuesday evening last. Feature piled upon feature to enhance the pleasure of the event. It was the first gatherlast of Vanity Fair for some months. Social life has been but faintly throbbing lately. Mr. and Mrs. Lowrey are very popular here. Mr. and Mrs. Cooke. who now tentatively have their home on the Coast, are always most cordially welcome to Honolulu and were on this occursion warmly greeted by the hosts of their friends who had been

The accompanying cut is Harry Robert's chalk plate copy of Geo. C. Stratemeyer's sketch of Makena, Manl. with the Government tug Eleu, Capt. Hilbus, drawing away after an unsuccessful pull upon the beached schooner Labrador. The captain and crew of the Labrador will be before Judge Stanley in the Circuit Court here again tomorrow on the charge of smuggling opium into this country. The school er was captured by police of Mani. On account of having but one anchor left she somehow landed on the beach after having a hole made in one bow. The schooner is to be repaired and brought to Honolulu for sale at auction. Condemnation proceedings have aiready been instituted against the Labrador by the law department of the Republic. The optum, or five hundred tins of it, was found buried on the Island of Kahoolawe. Its location was fixed by the confession of the Japanese cook of the Labrador. All who have been at Makena will agree that Mr. Stratemeyer, who was foremost in the "field" campaign against the smuggiers, has made an excellent sketch. Miller hill is shown at the right. In hauling on the schooner, one of her masts was displaced. She is a solid and next little craft. The drawing by the Port Surveyor, was made on two pieces of box card board secured from a Chinese shop keeper. The sketch was made at the suggestion of Chester A. Doyle, who had the final handling of the Japanese cook. In Honolulu the drawing was photographed down to the proper focus by Davey. The police going out to board the Labrador met a boat's crew coming in from the schooner. The Japanese cook was with the Labouder captain and says in his statements and testimony that just so soon as the police were seen the captain sent over the side of the ship's boat a large bundle. The surmise of the custom's people is that this bundle was opium. Collector General McStocker, who directed all the hunting operations, has natives looking for the lost bundle, but is doubtful of its recovery, as the "dump" was made at night and a considerable distance
